

SPECIAL PROMOTION

We are all in this together. These unprecedented times have impacted each of us. As we work on this profile, three of Kelly's four sons are back home again, all under one roof. It's a full house to say the least, but as the importance of family has never been greater, she is finding beauty and purpose within the chaos.

Kelly is the ultimate boy mom. You name it - helicopter skiing, swimming with sharks, or sky diving, Kelly is always game. And she's game in the legal world as well. She is known to take on the most complicated of cases boldly and fearlessly.

With over 25 years of experience and as CEO of one of the most successful family law firms in Dallas, Kelly McClure is the Ace of Spades every client wants in their deck. With a growing staff of twelve attorneys to support her, there is no [legal] mountain Kelly cannot climb. Whether it be a heated custody battle or a divorce with a complicated financial estate- no one shines brighter than Kelly in the courtroom.

Make no mistake though - Kelly's success shines even brighter at home. Along with her husband Wade, also an attorney, they have raised four strong-willed men with the attorney gene rubbing off on three of the four (so far). One joined her firm last fall, another is in law school, and the third is starting at SMU Dedman in the fall. If you ask her to name her biggest accomplishment- she will say the title of "mom" - and this is the kind of modern mom you want protecting your greatest asset- your children.
