As Managing Partner of McClure Law Group, Kelly McClure is known for helping clients navigate some of life's most difficult scenarios. Be it a divorce suit or a child custody case, "part of our practice is trying to make people's lives better," she says. The powerhouse attorney and her well-seasoned team have a white glove, full-service approach, and a 24-7 concierge mentality that differentiates them from their competition. Another differentiator? The diversity of their team, including an in-house CPA and an appellate attorney, to name a few, all of whom are trained to handle everything from divorce proceedings to premarital agreements. "It makes doing our work so much more enjoyable when we're doing it together," says Managing Partner Francesca Blackard. "There are a lot of firms where everyone is on their own or handles their own clients, and that is just not the ethos at our firm." From litigation to negotiation and mediation, that team spirit drives their desire to help protect the client's relationships, finances, homes, and businesses. "I'm proud of the fact that we're not the kind of attorneys that are out for the dollars," says Blackard. "Of course, it is a business, but we do what is right for the client. We are very blessed and have a great reputation throughout the community." McClure Law Group's team of attorneys is well versed in the law, regularly speaking, presenting, and educating on changes to the law. Always ahead of the curve, the team at McClure Law Group uses state-of-the-art technology and techniques to assist their clients in reaching goals.

Kelly McClure, Francesca Blackard, Brandon Joseph and Kate Mataya all have had numerous awards including Best Family Lawyers and Texas Super Lawyers. McClure, Blackard, and Mataya have been honored as the Most Dynamic Women in their field. Their dedication to their craft and exceptional preparation is what sets them apart from other law firms in the Metroplex.
