McClure Law Group

100% FAMILY LAW

Perfectionism, Perseverance, and Practicality drives McClure Law Group

At McClure Law Group, the clients' goals are of the utmost importance. Founder, managing partner, and CEO Kelly McClure, managing partner Francesca Blackard, and the rest of their talented staff work together to not only achieve these goals, but surpass them.

"I think we're the gold standard when it comes to the quality of work that comes out of our firm," said Blackard. "We're complimented all the time by our clients on being so much more prepared than the other side. We really give our hearts and souls to our clients and their cases."

Another way McClure Law Group ensures the satisfaction of their clients is their skill and effectiveness in the courtroom.

"We have a unique practice in that we're able to give a lot of credibility to what could happen at the courthouse, because we go there quite often," said McClure, who is also managing partner and CEO of the firm. "I think that really helps clients facilitate a settlement, knowing that the alternative is we go to the courthouse and that's an arena we're very comfortable in."

With a combined experience of over 100 years, McClure Law Group knows Dallas clients want their family law dealings to be as seamless as possible. This is what sets the Firm apart with an in-house CPA and an in-house appellate attorney, which no other Dallas firm has. McClure Law Group also prides itself on seeing clients as human beings, not just income.

"We do damage control in all aspects," Blackard said. "Financially and emotionally, and I'm really proud that we're not a firm that sees a high-net-worth client and sees dollar signs. We see the client, their children, their spouse, and think of how to keep this post-divorce family as in-tact as possible."

In the past year, the team at McClure Law Group has only gotten better. New partners, Kate Mataya and Brandon Joseph, have gone above and beyond in their new roles and augment the knowledge and expertise of the already-masterful McClure Law Group team.

"We're ahead of the curve with the lawyers we have," McClure said. "They're very impressive in terms of their writing techniques and complicated drafting on complex issues. A lot of firms don't have our level of expertise. Our talent pool at our office is just untouchable."
